

ST HUBERTUS HUNTING TOURS

HUNT IN AUSTRIA WITH ST HUBERTUS HUNTING TOURS

Austria has a glorious hunting history with ancient traditions that have been preserved until nowadays. The here and now of the hunting in Austria is characterized by amazing landscapes, wide range of animals, high quality of hunting services and a unique sense of hospitality towards hunters. There are around 140000 hunters in this small nice country (8,5 millions inhabitants), probably there is one hunter at least in each family and so hunt has a good reputation. Up to XX century big game hunting was a privilege of the aristocracy and when we talk about aristocracy in Austria we refer to the Hapsburgs at first. Emperor Franz Joseph I was a skilled hunter with a special passion for hunting on Alps. The Emperor's family devoted a lot of resources to management of hunting grounds where still nowadays hunters from all over the world can spend gripping hunting days. Starting from 50's Austrian institutions and the owners of the hunting areas manage hunt in an excellent way taking care of wildlife species: capercaillie, black grouse, roe deer, red deer, chamois, mouflon and alpine-ibex. Hunting structures are very professional and pleasant stays are guaranteed by a lot of hotel facilities from hunting chalet to luxurious chateau or hotel spa where you can taste excellent food and wine. Last but not least trophies are indeed excellent. Hunt on Alpine Mountains of course has a predominant role with amazing mountainous hunting grounds well accessible by stalking paths. We have selected the best hunting facilities across the whole Austria and we can guarantee a high standard hunting stay as well as the most convenient rates (best value for money). We can arrange a personalised hunting stay according individual needs and wishes of the client. We focused our attention especially on austrian hunting offer that can complete our czech and slovakian hunting offer with different opportunities that you can't find in the Czech republic and Slovakia.

PECULIAR HUNTING OFFER IN AUSTRIA

CHAMOIS

The Chamois is found in terrestrial, rocky areas and alpine pastures in the mountains of Europe. The adult size of this mountain antelope, sometimes called a mountain 'goat', is 75-85 cm long and 70-90 cm high, with weight of 24-36 kg. The short, smooth summer coat is overall tawny or reddish-brown, while in winter it becomes a chocolate brown. The jaw, cheeks, and nose-bridge are strikingly white, and there is a black stripe running from the eye to the muzzle. The slender, black horns are found in both sexes. Rising vertically from the forehead, they are sharply curved backwards on their top third like hooks, and can reach a length of 32 cm / 12.8 inches. The ability of this animal to move about with ease among rocks in relatively inaccessible terrain is due mainly to the structure of the hooves, which have an elastic base and a hard thin edge

ALPINE IBEX

The ibex, also known as the steinbock, is a species of wild goat, which predominantly lives in the Alps (Alpine ibex). His awesome large, up to 1m long horns, make the ibex to one of the most impressive game in the high mountains. The ibex lives at the height between timber line and snow line and ascents to heights of up to 3.500m. In winter he stays in deeper layers than in summer, and also in summer he often ascents up to alpine lawns for eating. The Alpine ibex has an average head-body-length of 150cm and a shoulder-height of 90cm. Feminine exemplars have a weight of 40kg, whereas bucks can weigh more than whopping 100kg.

CAPERCAILLIE, BLACKGROUSE

Austria has a quite good population of capercaillie and blackcock and so it is one of the few EU countries where capercaillie and blackcock shooting is legal. Nevertheless legal restrictions are very rigid in regarding of hunting period (May) and number of birds that is allowed to shoot each year.

If you are interested in such an amazing and unique trophies please send us a request well in advance and we will do our best to satisfy your wishes.
