HISTORY OF PHEASANT BREEDING IN CZECHIA

According to the legend, the Colchis pheasant (Phasianus Colchicus) was found by so/called Argonauts in Colchis during their research of the Golden Fleece. From Colchis they brought live pheasants to Greece. It is just a legend but it is true that the Greeks and later the Romans contributed to the spread of pheasants across the whole Europe. The Roman poet Giovenale wrote that pheasants were the birds of Scythia, the ancient Central Eurasia region. The Romans used pheasants with their beautiful colours for ornamental purposes in the parks of patrician villas. Only from XI century the pheasants were introduced in European hunting game preserves owned by kings and noble families. The history of pheasant breeding in the Bohemian lands goes back to the 11th century and the first official pheasantry was founded near Králuv Dvůr by the Bohemian king and German Kaiser Charles IV in the 14th century. The breeding and hunting of the pheasant have become so popular here that during the times a specific species called in French Fasan de Boheme or in German der Bohmische Jagdfasan become very popular for its strong and healthily form. The modern driven shooting is connected with the Hasburg imperial house reigning in the Bohemia till the World War One. In the 1845 there were almost 200 pheasant breeding across the country. Nowadays the driven shooting in the Czech Republic boasts great reputation for the quality of birds, excellent organization and maintaining of original tradition connected to the event.

Offer n. 1

Shooting area

One of the smaller pheasantries in our offer covers an area of 500 hectares. Beautiful landscape of southern Moravia offers shooting in mainly flat terrain covered by forest. This is a forest environment dominated by deciduous forests (mainly oaks and ash). The forests are mature and alternate between low stands, thickets and linear plantings of shrubs.

The pheasant leches themselves are divided by small fields of corn which are interspersed between these woods. Each field is on the edge of a good cover of shrubs which form the bulk of the pheasantry. The pheasants are hidden in these and flit between the fields and the woods.

A system of woodland paths divides the pheasantry into several units. This makes it possible to reach all the drives on foot, which are so easily accessible.

Local experienced staff has been organizing the shoot here for more than 30 years according to the Czech hunting traditions and ceremonies.

Offer n. 3

First - class shooting area

Driven pheasant shooting days of this offer occur in area sizing around 1000 hectares in the northern part of the Czech Republic. History of these grounds goes back to 19th century when a local noble family conceived an area for pheasant shooting in British style. The terrain has a hilly, sloping profile and is largely covered by forests with tall trees. The degree of difficulty of the various day drives ranges from medium-high to very high, making this area very suitable for mixed groups with experienced guns. Some of the drives are extremely challenging, with guns placed in depressions in the terrain, with pheasants flying very high in narrow corridors between the trees. Other drives give the guns chances to shoot birds flying high from a distance. The pheasants are released in the area months before the season and are of excellent quality with lustrous plumage and long tails. The local staff has many years of experience in organising flawless driven pheasants shoots. Each shooting day begins with a refreshment with hot drinks and a check of the necessary documents. Two-three drives are scheduled in the morning, followed by a hunter´s snack (soup, sausages and apple pie). In the afternoon another 2-3 drives are planned.

At the end of the shoot a late lunch is served (while the staff prepares the closing ceremony). The entire organisation is in full accordance with the old hunting traditions of the Czech Republic (hunting musicians, awarding the best shooter, etc.).

FIRST CLASS AREAS WITH VERY HIGH FLYING PHEASANTS

Driven pheasant shoots take place in an area of over 2000 hectares where 50,000 pheasants are released each year. Local breeding stations produce healthy young birds with a good ability to adapt to the harsh conditions of life in the wild. Pheasants are usually released at 10 weeks of age. A high percentage of released birds are lost. This means that during the shooting days you will find well developed birds with beautiful plumage and long tails. The area is largely wooded with tall trees. All drives on the two day shoot are of good to excellent quality. Some of the drives are extremely challenging as the guns are placed in narrow gorges between rocks and surrounded by tall trees with the pheasants flying very high over their heads. Other drives are organised in such a way that guns see pheasants arriving from a distance, flying very high over hills and tall trees. As many of our guests from UK and other countrises can attest, there is no doubt that this area can satisfy even the most demanding guns.
